

Sept. 20, 2006

A message from Henri Morris, CPA, President, Solid Software Solutions, L.L.C.

To All of Our Clients and Prospective Clients:

Regardless of what types of food products your company sells, a problem like the current E. coli outbreak could affect you in the future. The purpose of this message is to make you aware of how Edible Software responded to the current situation and how we can help provide you - both now and in the future - with the information you need to manage your legal and community responsibilities.

EDIBLE SOFTWARE'S RESPONSE TO THE SPINACH RECALL

1. Immediately upon receiving an FDA warning about a suspected E. coli outbreak, Edible Software users were able to instantly de-activate all spinach products within their system. This prevented any further sales of these items.
2. Edible Software users were also able to instantly identify each and every customer to whom any spinach product had already been sold. These customers could then be contacted in order to inform them about the FDA's discovery, and to instruct them to pull the products from their inventory. By so doing, our clients not only ensured their compliance with the FDA's Bio-Terrorism Act but in addition, were potentially able to save additional lives and/or prevent additional health problems.
3. Finally, when the FDA released the name of the suspected vendor, Edible Software's 'inventory lot' users were able to further isolate and identify each and every customer who received that specific vendor's products. This is due to the software's ability to automatically track the vendor from whom an item was purchased and the customer/s to whom it was sold.

Remember - Edible Software is not only a vital management tool for your company - it can also help provide you with the information needed to manage your legal and community responsibilities.

We continue to strive to ensure that Edible Software users are always kept up to date with the latest business, technological and legal requirements and that we are also available to assist you in any other way needed. Please call us if we can help you or if you have any questions.

Thank you,

H. Morris

Henri Morris, CPA

President

Solid Software Solutions, L.L.C. / Edible Software

(832) 200-8000; hmorris@ediblesoftware.com